

SPORTS at a glance

Besides the versatile arenas found throughout the city, Tulsa is home to many complexes, fields and facilities able to accommodate any sport.

Our downtown stadium, ONEOK Field, made its debut in April of 2010 to a roaring crowd who enjoyed a game played against the city's skyline. The new stadium seats 8,600 and boasts 30 suites.

In the heart of the city is The University of Tulsa with state-of-the-art collegiate facilities including:

- H.A. Chapman Stadium with a new seating capacity of 30,000.
- Michael D. Case Tennis Center – a top-tier tennis complex,
- Hurricane Soccer and Track Stadium featuring a 75' X 120' soccer field; eight-lane 400-meter synthetic surface running track and seating for 2,000 spectators.

Additionally, Oral Roberts University provides access to J.L. Johnson Stadium with a natural grass surface and seating of up to 2,418.

Home to 19 public golf courses and many award-winning private courses, the Tulsa area is a golf mecca for amateurs and professionals alike. Tulsa has hosted the U.S. Open, PGA, U.S. Amateur and LPGA.

If your event is more about speed, Tulsa's Raceway Park is the place with 10,000 seating capacity and 10 staging lanes. Tulsa is also home to the U.S. Shooting Academy.

For youth sports, the region is well equipped with several baseball complexes including All-Star Sports Complex, Carl Smith Sports Complex and Indian Springs Sports Complex. Tulsa Riverparks boasts more than 40 miles of trails and a host of water sports.

Anchored by four professional sports teams and two private universities, there's always a game on in Tulsa.

ACCESSIBILITY

CENTRALLY LOCATED in the middle of the country, Tulsa is an easy drive-in destination for many delegates. For those who want to fly, Tulsa International Airport is just 15 minutes from downtown and offers 72 flights daily, with direct flights to more than 20 U.S. destinations.

Most major carriers fly into Tulsa so delegates can choose the airline and fare that works best for their needs. For more information, visit tulsaairports.com.

TULSA at a glance

The Midwest is known for having a flair all its own, but the unique marriage of Tulsa's historic Native American roots and oil boom heritage create a city rich in arts, culture and entertainment. Centrally located, Tulsa is an affordable and easy drive-in destination for conventions and events. The newly remodeled Tulsa International Airport (TUL) is a convenient 15 minutes from downtown for those choosing to fly.

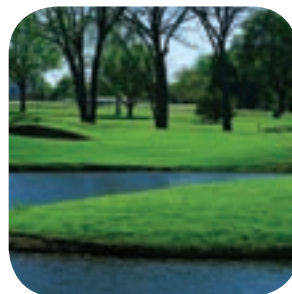

Once downtown, you will find a city reborn with a newly renovated and expanded Tulsa Convention Center; one of the nation's top arenas, the 18,500 seat BOK Center; and the new $39.2 million dollar ONEOK Field – home of the Tulsa Drillers baseball team.

Meeting attendees can spend free time in-between sessions exploring art, culture and history of this oil-boom city. Mere steps from the Tulsa Convention Center they are able to view some of the most magnificent Art Deco architecture in the World. A few steps further and they'll find the Brady and Blue Dome entertainment districts. World class museums including the Gilcrease or Philbrook are less than 3 miles from the convention center. Seeking a different kind of adventure? The Oklahoma Aquarium and the Tulsa Zoo both offer a unique and exciting "meeting experience".

Planners and organizations are taking a closer look at Tulsa – downtown and around the city. Welcome to Tulsa.
